Masada and the Dead Sea in one day

Private tour from Tel Aviv, unhurried and thoughtful

The Judean Desert, on the edge of the Dead Sea.

Departure	Return	Language	Format
09:00 from Tel Aviv	17:30 to Tel Aviv	English	Private tour, at your own pace

A day in the Judean Desert: the fortress of Masada, a UNESCO World Heritage Site, with its history and its panorama, followed by a swim in the Dead Sea. This is the standard program: times are approximate and the route adapts to you, your interests and your pace.

The day's itinerary

09:00	Departure from Tel Aviv I pick you up at the agreed address. The drive takes about two and a half hours: a stop for coffee and the story of the desert opening up in front of us.
11:30	Arrival at Masada and ascent We go up to the fortress by cable car or on foot along the Snake Path, depending on how much you feel like walking.
12:00	The fortress of Masada Herod's palace, the cisterns, the ritual baths and the ruins of the synagogue. I tell you the story of the Jewish rebels who resisted the Romans, and we enjoy the view over the Dead Sea.
13:15	Descent and lunch A relaxed break for lunch, chosen together with you, before getting back on the road.

14:00	Swim in the Dead Sea The lowest point on Earth: you float effortlessly. An hour of relaxation on the beach.
15:00	Return to Tel Aviv Estimated arrival at 17:30, depending on traffic.

Times may change depending on queues, entry restrictions, holidays and your preferences.

Practical information

What to bring

- Closed, comfortable shoes: at Masada you walk on stony paths.
- At least 1.5-2 liters of water per person, hat and sunscreen.
- Swimsuit and towel for the Dead Sea.
- An ID document.

Good to know

- At midday the desert sun is strong, especially in summer: water, hat and an easy pace. If you prefer, we can leave earlier.
- In the Dead Sea do not put your face in the water, do not shave beforehand, and stay in for about twenty minutes.
- Masada's opening hours may vary by season.
- The tour is private: it is just you and me, no groups and no clock.
